

DRMA 107 : Theatre Production and Design

Credits 5

Quarter Offered Winter

This course provides instruction and experience in technical theater through lecture, readings, and practical experience. Students will work together as a production team to assist in the design and production of the play being performed within the quarter. This class may include students from multiple sections. (Elective)

Course Outcomes

- Create meaningful and functional design for theatrical performances.

- Operate the basic systems in a theatre.

- Respond critically to various theatrical performance designs.

- Work collaboratively as a member of a technical stage crew and participate effectively in production meetings.