BAS 310: FOUNDATIONS OF MANAGEMENT, THEORY & PRACTICE

An exploration of the organization theory literature focusing on major theoretical perspectives and content area. Includes design of organizational structure and control systems; analysis of organization-environment relations, including interorganizational relationships; managing organizational technology and innovation; information processing and decision making; and organizational culture, conflict, and power.

Course Student Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate an understanding of organizations and organization theory.
2. Demonstrate an understanding of organizational purpose and structural design.
3. Demonstrate an understanding of how the external environment influences the structure and function of an organization.
4. Demonstrate an understanding of how organizations are constructed internally to meet their goals.
5. Demonstrate an understanding of the effect of specific dynamic processes in the operation and life of an organization.

Credits: 5
Program: Bachelor of Applied Science