

MEDIA 113: PRINCIPLES OF DATABASE MANAGEMENT FOR THE WEB

This course introduces students to common database structures used on the web including aspects of data models, database languages, database design, and the standard Structured Query Language (SQL). In addition, students will learn the basic principles of using PHP as the gateway language to web databases.

Credits: 5

Program: Multimedia Communications